City first in State to get Mega Water Reservoir

Central Service Reservoir at Vijayanagar can store up to 2.70 crore litres of water

Workers cleaning the floor of the first-in-the-State Central Service Reservoir built at Vijayanagar Second Stage in city that can store up to 2.70 crore litres of water. Clean drinking water will be filled up to the ventilation level of the tank.

Mysuru, June 12 (RK&BCT)- Mysuru has got a Central Service Reservoir (CSR) that can store up to 2 crore 70 lakh litres of water — a first in the State and even cosmopolitan city Bengaluru does not have such a storage facility. The reservoir works have been completed and it will be dedicated to the city on June 30.

This was disclosed to reporters by Mysuru-Kodagu MP-elect Pratap Simha during an inspection of the works taken up under the funds that have been released by the Centre under Atal Mission for Rejuvenation and Urban Transformation (AMRUT) scheme. Rs. 156 crore has been released by the Centre and works are being taken up in four packages.

The first package is to construct a Central Service Reservoir at Vijayanagar Second Stage that can store 26 MLD (Million Litres per Day) water and to take up repair works of old 18 MLD and 27 MLD storage facilities.

The 18 MLD tank has been repaired and was commissioned on 18-4-2018. Works of Vijayanagar Second Stage old 18 MLD and 27 MLD tank and 13 MLD capacity tank at Yadavagiri (inside the premises of the Office of Executive Engineer, Karnataka Urban Water Supply and Drainage Board) have been completed and will be inaugurated on June 30, the MP-elect said.

The total cost of this project is Rs. 27 crore and the process began in 2016. The new reservoir will supply drinking water to 19 Wards of Mysuru City Corporation (MCC), 16 in Chamaraja, 2 in Chamundeshwari and one in N.R. Constituency. Once commissioned, the total water storage at the Vijayanagar Second Stage facility will be 2 crore 70 lakh litres and residents including Vijayanagar First, Second, Third Stage, Saraswathipuram, Gokulam, Hootagalli, BEML Layout will get water daily. At present, they get water once in two days.

Chaos for Aadhaar registration

Just one person handling counter at Karnataka One !

Mysuru, June 12 (US&PM)- With the Government making linkage of Aadhaar with Ration Card mandatory and setting July 31 as deadline, over 300 people assembled at Karnataka One Centre on Seshadri Iyer Road (near Old RMC) this morning, most of them seeking registration for Aadhaar Card.

The long queue of people since early morning became unmanageable for the single person handling the Aadhaar section at the Centre resulting in utter chaos.

Vulnerable Veterans

The plant world is marked by many features that Botanists take fascination to enlighten us in their characteristic way of naming the plants using Latin terms with their unchallenged exclusive scientific reasoning. However, the feature of one batch of foliage, well after its selfless life witnessing appearance of beautiful flowers and juicy fruits on the body of plants, falling off to the ground, yielding place to a fresh batch, has its unmistakable analogy to life of human beings in particular and the rest of life forms in general, including animals, birds, aquatic fauna, not to forget insects, the factor of age causing disappearance, read death, of one batch yielding place to the next in an unending sequence, barring the cases of extinct species. For the purpose of this column, the issue of one generation of human beings departing even as the next generation takes over raises many points, the one poignant point that cannot be missed is the all-too-familiar contemporary society that doesn't seem to take kindly to the veterans, especially those on the wrong side of eighty, more so if they are infirm both physically and economically. One may cite the Kannada saying 'Attegondukaala, Sosegondukaala,' in this context.

The seniors among the senior citizens have cause to feel suffocated in urban space for reasons not far to seek. Their rustic counterparts seem to be in no better state of comfort for different reasons, even as both kinds are to be often heard cursing themselves for fate taking them away and provide the much-desired redemption from misery and humiliation. Fortunate are those who have taken care of their needs in advanced age, but they represent a minuscule fraction in their population.

On virtually every occasion that death of aged persons of standing in society is reported in dailies, the doctors seem to take a simplistic view saying the end came due to age-related ailments, which are identified by tongue-twisting terms, the bastion of physicians. Medical science, as it is progressing in its track of uncovering the causes of plethora of afflictions, along with advances in technology marked by devices used in diagnosis and treatment, can facilitate the veterans in vulnerable state in minimising the risks to their life as they move around even within the four walls of their dwellings. A study report based on which has been published recently says that more and more elderly Americans are dying after a fall during their late night tumbles on their way to the bathroom.

While the doctors exercise their discretion in prescribing medicines to alleviate the suffering of the elderly, the factor of side-effects of the medicines continues to be a challenge for pharmacologists. The not-so-old members of the family are the best bet for the safety of the elderly in the last-leg of their life's journey. But, in the current dispensation, that appears to be asking for the moon as it were.

ECO-FRIENDLY YOGA: The Government has a new theme for International Yoga Day 2019. It wants to promote the use of eco-friendly accessories and products during the celebrations. The Ministry of Ayurveda, Yoga and Naturopathy, Unani, Siddha and Homeopathy, or AYUSH, has prepared a concept note to raise public awareness on opting for eco-friendly yoga accessories. The note urges Ministries to not use PVC mats with a "large-scale presence of cheap varieties" available in the domestic market because they are not recyclable, has contaminants, and adds to air pollution. It has asked Ministries to use yoga mats made from jute, rubber and other materials. "Government bodies, yoga institutions and yoga teachers are all potential influencers who can help create more awareness about the same," the concept note, circulated in various Ministries, said. — In Business Standard

The 84-year-old style icon !

Tokyo: An 84-year-old retired chemistry teacher with no real interest in fashion, managed to become somewhat of a style icon after letting his grandson dress him up for a photo shoot.

It all started when Naoya Kudo went to visit his grandfather, Tetsuya, during Japan's Golden Week holiday. Naoya asked his grandpa if he'd be willing to model some fresh designer clothes for a couple of offbeat fashion photo shoots, and he accepted. But none imagined their photo shoots would be a social media success story.

The 84-year-old was quite involved in picking locations and other things when they planned photo shoots. They visited the fields and beaches around Tetsuya's home, the school he used to be Principal at, and even those locations probably wouldn't exactly be top of the list for a fashion photographer. In fact, he was so impressed that he posted some photos on Twitter, where they quickly went viral.

Doc addicted to energy boosting drug

Malaysia: A Malaysian doctor recently confessed to battling methamphetamine addiction for the last nine years, after being introduced to the drug as a way to boost his energy level to cope with 48-hour shifts.

Dr. Sasitharan Ayanai, a 39-year-old doctor at a Government Hospital in Johor Baru, got addicted to meth nine years ago, shortly after coming home from Russia, where he graduated medical school. Long-hour shifts, sometimes up to 48-hours-long, without proper rest and having to treat countless waves of patients quickly took a toll on the young doctor, and he found himself looking for a way to boost his energy level just to cope with the situation. He was introduced to metamphetamine, and because he was a doctor, he thought he could control himself and not become addicted, but he was wrong.

Book release turns out to be a condolence meeting

Girish Karnad

Mysuru, June 12 (PM&DM)- A book release function organised by the city's Guruthu Balaga marking its first anniversary at Maneyangala in Kalamandira premises on Monday virtually turned out into a condolence meeting to pay tributes to renowned writer and Jnanpith awardee Girish Karnad, who passed away in Bengaluru on June 10.

Floral tributes were paid to a portrait of Karnad as a mark of respect to the departed writer.

Later, releasing the book titled 'Guruthu Varthamaanakkondu Kannadi,' Karnataka Sahitya Akademi Chairman Prof. Aravind Malagathi said that Karnad's death had brought a pall of gloom to the literary world.

Pointing out that Karnad was a multi-lingual writer, actor and playwright, Arvind Malagathi said that Karnad always stood for the principles he advocated and his death was a big loss to the State.

Commenting on 'Guruthu Varthamaankkondu Kannadi' brought out by Sri Nidhi Books, he said that the Guruthu Balaga has done a good job by espousing social issues haunting the society. Noting that the book focuses on bringing about a societal transformation, he said the book is a thought-provoking one.

Stating that the Centre's efforts to enforce Hindi through National Education Policy was fraught with an ulterior motive of pushing Hindi in Southern States, he urged the Centre to treat all Indian languages on par and promote them as part of regional aspirations.

KRRS President Badagalapura Nagendra, MDJA President C.K. Mahendra, writer Bannur K. Raju, cultural patron Samskruti Subramanya and others were present.

Cow attack at Kukkarahalli Lake... waiting to happen !

Sir,

The news of a cow attack on two women walkers at Kukkarahalli Lake makes a disturbing read (SOM dated June 9). But, it was an incident or accident waiting to happen, given the apathy of the authorities concerned and the utter negligence of the security personnel deployed at the Lake who allow all kinds of undesirable practices to take place and conveniently wink at it.

A few years back even I had the horrific experience of being charged by a bull at Kukkarahalli Lake while taking a morning walk. Indeed, stray cattle menace is a commonplace at Kukkarahalli Lake.

But that is not the only nuisance morning walkers are exposed to. One could also see motorcyclists having a free run who get there to cut and collect green grass from around the Lake and transport it to be used as fodder for livestock. It became so intolerable a nuisance for morning walkers that I was constrained to approach Police officials at Jayalakshmipuram Police Station to book the culprits and put an end to the nuisance.

One hopes the authorities concerned — the Mysore University officials, the civic authorities and, of course, the Police authorities — come together and take effective measures to put an end to the stray cattle menace in the interest of the safety of the morning walkers and the tax-paying public.

Kodagu woman's never-ending wait for missing husband, an Army Jawan

Madikeri, June 12- Here is a heart-rending case, where a woman, wife of a gallant jawan, is waiting for the return of her husband, who has gone missing for nearly two decades.

This is the tragic story of Parvathi, a native of Ammathi in Virajpet taluk of Kodagu district.

Pudiyokkada Uthaiah, also of Ammathi, joined the Indian Army in 1985 and later married Parvathi. Uthaiah, who came to Ammathi on leave in 1999, left home after completion of his leave. But Uthaiah neither reported for duty nor returned home and his whereabouts could not be traced until now.

The Army, which took up Uthaiah's case, initially said that Uthaiah has gone missing in action. But months later, the Army told Parvathi that Uthaiah was dead, which Parvathi is not willing to believe.

Pudiyokkada Uthaiah

Parvathi

Uthaiah, who was serving as an Army Lance Naik with the Signal Battalion in Uttar Pradesh, came to his native Ammathi on a 20-day leave in 1999. After completion of the leave, he left behind his pregnant wife Parvathi and went to Allahabad, UP, to report again for duty.

Uthaiah called his wife on Nov.21, 1999 to say that he was not well. But Parvathi has not heard of him since then, which has left her family shattered.

The Army sent a telegram to Uthaiah's family on Dec.4, 1999 which asked the family members to send back Uthaiah to the Army Unit, where he was working.

Upon receiving the telegram, a pregnant Parvathi went into a state of shock and some days later, delivered a baby which died a few days later.

But later on, Parvathi regained her composure and went to the Army Unit where Uthaiah was working. However, she could not find any clues about her husband.

As days passed, the Army wrote a letter to Parvathi stating that Uthaiah had died on June 14, 2000. The Army, after declaring Uthaiah dead, began paying meagre pension to Parvathi from 2010. Even as the Army confirmed Uthaiah's death, it has failed to trace his body or even explain to the family on how he died.

Now Parvathi, who is left alone, is running from pillar to post in Army circles, appealing the Army Officers to trace her missing husband. Not the one to give up, Parvathi is waiting alone, just as Shabari in the epic Ramayana, for her husband Uthaiah to return home, even after 20-long-years he went missing.

Poachers arrested at BRT Tiger Reserve

Villagers caught them and handed over to Forest officials

Mysuru, June 12 (GL&KS)- Villagers of Biligiri Ranganatha Hill have caught two poachers, who had illegally entered Biligiri Ranganathaswamy Temple (BRT) Tiger Reserve Forest and were attempting to poach wild animals.

The alleged poachers are Nanjunda and Prasanna Kumar. While one poacher is said to be from Bengaluru, the other is said to be a resident of a nearby village.

Based on the information provided by former Gram Panchayat Vice-President Srivivas, Sheshadri, Kumar, Santosh, Biligiri Ranganathaswamy Temple Employees Association President Kantharaju and others, Yalandur RFO Mahadevaiah and staff, who rushed to the spot, took the two poachers into custody and are investigating.

Raitha Sangha leaders to visit drought-hit areas from June 13

Mysuru, June 12 (PM&US)- Ten members of Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sangha and Hasiru Sene would visit drought-hit areas in North Karnataka from June 13 to 19 and study the drought situation there.

Disclosing this at a press meet at Pathrakartara Bhavan here yesterday, KRRS President Badagalapura Nagendra contended that the State Government had failed to attend to the problems of drought-hit farmers in the State.

He regretted that the Opposition (BJP) too is more interested in toppling the Coalition Government than offer constructive suggestions on drought relief.

He further said that 164 taluks in the State are drought-hit and added that State BJP President B.S. Yeddyurappa was only visiting the drought areas but to no avail.

Continuing, Nagendra said that the Sangha members would meet the Governor soon and air their grievances. He also urged the Government to come out with facts and figures regarding the farm loan waiver scheme.

He pooh-poohed the Central offer of Rs.6,000 to farmers calling it as of no use and eye wash as farmers are seeking good support price for their produce.

Farmer leaders Hosakote Basavaraj, Madhu Somaiah and others were present during the press meet.

Farmers oppose Power Grid Line over agri fields

Mysuru, June 12 (PM&DM)- Strongly opposing the proposed Hiriyur-Mysuru 400 KV Power Grid Line passing over their agricultural fields, nearly a hundred farmers under the banner of Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sangha (KRRS) staged a demonstration in front of the Power Grid office near Maidanahalli in Yelwal Hobli of the taluk yesterday.

Claiming that there are plans to draw power lines of the 400 KV power project over the agricultural fields at Kallur Naganahalli, Anandur, Chikkanahalli, Mallegowdanakoppal, Yachegowdanahalli, Doddegowdanakoppal, Hosakote and other villages of Mysuru taluk, the farmers alleged that power lines are being drawn to benefit Real Estate Mafia, builders and developers and the politically influential.

The farmers demanded that the power lines be drawn on an alternate route and thus save the fields of small farmers, who are cultivating lands for decades.

They warned of intensifying the stir if the Power Grid route is not redrawn.

KRRS President Badagalapura Nagendra, office-bearers Hosakote Basavaraj, P. Marankaiah and others took part.

On Monday evening, Ravishankar was proceeding on his scooter (KA-09-HJ-2733) towards Bogadi after reaching the Ring Road when a speeding Bolero Pick-Up vehicle (KL-12-E-8536) which came from Hinkal side rammed into the scooter, resulting in Ravishankar sustaining serious injuries.

Though he was immediately rushed to a Private Hospital in city, Ravishankar succumbed to injuries.

Reign of Rain begins in Kodagu

- Movement of multi-axle trucks banned as they damage roads
- Compared to last year, this year's rainfall is less, says data

Madikeri, June 12 (PS&BCT)- Parts of Kodagu have been receiving intermittent rains since the last three days signalling the onset of the Southwest Monsoon. Though the intensity of monsoon is yet to set in, cloud cover and rainfall has been widespread and uniform across the district. And the weatherman has predicted more rains in the next three days.

Following the forecast, the Kodagu District Administration has banned the movement of heavy vehicles transporting sand and tree logs. Along with this, multi-axle trucks and tankers have also been banned. The District Administration has taken this step as unrestricted movement of trucks on the sides of the road will lead to landslides and cause damage to roads.

This decision has been taken based on the report presented by the Regional Transport Officer who had recommended a ban on vehicles that weighs more than 16,200 kgs. The vehicles include multi-axle trucks and tankers, bullet tankers, ship cargo containers, long chassis vehicles and trucks transporting sand and wooden logs.

However, exceptions have been granted for trucks carrying milk, cooking gas, fuel, school buses, public and private sector transport buses and those vehicles transporting goods for government work.

Moreover some villagers, who were affected by landslides last year, have demanded a ban on heavy vehicles. Villagers from Bettatturu, Kolagadalu-Cherambane-Bettatturu-Madenadu road said that heavy vehicles transporting timber ply on the road unabated as the road connects to the National Highway. Continuous movement of heavy vehicles has damaged the road that has led to landslides, they said.

In this week's Pet Talk, Maneka talks about guinea pig, its behavioural changes and ideal temperature for it to be healthy

Pet Talk

Maneka Gandhi

My guinea pig has become slow and listless these days. Is something wrong?

Generally, if you notice a change in behaviour in your Guinea pig, it is wise to check for other symptoms as well. Immediately check if your Guinea pig has laboured breathing, bloated abdomen, is he/ she eating and drinking normally, are there any changes in the faeces or urine passed? If you notice any of these symptoms it is best to consult a vet, as a disease, or any condition, can make your pet go downhill very quickly. Generally, if you notice lethargy in your Guinea pig, it can be a sign of a URI (Upper Respiratory Infection) or allergies. URI is a more serious condition and will require immediate action from your Vet. Guinea pigs are prone to pneumonia, because they do not do well in cold environment. So, ensure that your Guinea pig is warm and there are no drafts, and stay away from your pet Guinea if you have a cold.

My guinea pig is chewing on the plastic bars of the cage. How do I make it stop?

There could be several reasons why your Guinea pig is chewing on the cage. One of the more concerning reasons is that it is having some dental problem, like an overgrown teeth, which can be easily diagnosed and fixed by a vet. Other reasons are that it is bored or nervous, or just wants your attention. To stop it from chewing on plastic, you could observe your Guinea's chewing habits for a couple of days. Notice if there is a particular time or incident when it starts chewing on the plastic. Has there been a change in the environment? Does it happen if there is a commotion or loud noise nearby? Or does it start chewing when left alone for some time? If this is the case then the chewing can be psychological. You can introduce some non-toxic chew sticks or nibble toys for your Guinea pig to chew on. If your Guinea is feeling lonely or needs more attention, try to spend more time playing with it. If your Guinea pig is bored then try changing things up in its cage by putting in new toys or some new hay or putting in a new hideout. Or let it out during the day and only put it in at night. Guinea pigs are not meant to be caged animals.

My guinea pig seems to be shivering. Is something wrong?

Generally, Guinea pigs shiver because of fear. If there are any animals in the vicinity of your Guinea pig, or if it is in a new environment then, it could be experiencing fear. Try to placate you Guinea pig by making it comfortable, spending time with it and ensuring that no animals in the vicinity are scaring your pig.

Another cause of shivering is if your pet is cold. Guinea pigs can't handle cold well. Even if it feels warm to you, it might not be warm enough for your Guinea pig. Ensure that there is no wind or drafts near your Guinea pig's cage and that it is sufficiently warm and cosy. Guinea pigs are prone to pneumonia and respiratory infections, so if you notice any abnormal amount of shivering with other symptoms, immediately get your Guinea pig checked out.

Do I need to bathe my guinea pig?

No. Guinea pigs are quite capable of cleaning themselves and taking care of their hygiene. In fact, taking a bath could be stressful. They are not natural swimmers and they are prone to cold, so taking a bath could lead to some serious diseases. Your Guinea pig has natural body oils which get stripped when they take a bath, leaving them susceptible to parasites infestation. You should not give your Guinea pigs a bath, unless they are very dirty and need to be cleaned up, if your Guinea pig recently had a parasite infestation and you need to clean out the dead parasites, if it has a dirty rump because of bladder infection or diarrhoea. If you must give your Guinea pig a bath, make sure of the following details:

• The water is not too cold.

• The room, in which you are giving your Guinea pig a bath, is not too cold.

• Do not use a deep washing bowl, and ensure the water is not deeper than the animal.

• After the bath, immediately dry your Guinea pig with a towel, or flannels, by gently rubbing or patting down in the direction of the fur.

My guinea pig is eating its droppings. Is this normal?

Yes, it is very normal and, in fact, it is healthy for your Guinea pig. Guinea pigs have two types of food droppings — dark solid droppings and soft squishy droppings called caecals or cecotropes. Caecals are lighter in colour with a green or yellowish tint to them. Plant material is difficult to digest in one go, therefore many of the nutrients don't get absorbed in the intestine, and pass out of the body as faecal matter.

Like a cow chews the cud, a Guinea pig eating its caecals is a similar process. The food is first consumed and broken down by bacteria in the intestines of the Guinea pig. This results in partial absorption of the nutrients in the food. The Guinea pig will then consume the caecal again to thoroughly absorb the nutrients. Therefore, ensure that your Guinea pig gets an adequate balanced diet to keep it healthy.

My guinea pigs always have a strong smell coming from them, even if I clean up the cage regularly. Is this normal?

Typically, Guinea pigs keep themselves very clean. Sometimes a musky smell can come from your Guinea pig (especially a male) due to natural hormone fluctuations, or during the period a baby guinea pig is growing up into an adult. The other reason could be that the faecal matter, or urine, is getting stuck on your Guinea pig's bottom fur which could lead to foul odour. To clean its bottom, you can take a cotton ball dabbed with a little coconut oil and gently clean the bottom of your Guinea pig.

Are guinea pigs suited to the hot temperatures, such as in India?

The ideal temperature range for a Guinea pig is between 18-25 degrees Celsius. Anything above or below this range can lead to your pet Guinea pig becoming stressed. In hot weathers, such as in many parts of India, Guinea pigs can suffer from heat stress, lethargy, heat exhaustion, heatstroke and dehydration. Even though your Guinea pig might not display very obvious signs of being affected by the heat, hot climate can take a considerable toll on your pet's health. So, before adopting a Guinea pig, please ensure that the climate where you live is suitable for your pet as well.

My pet guinea pig has a swollen foot and is unable to walk properly. It is also losing hair on the same foot.

One of the main reasons is having wire mesh for it to walk on in its cage. Pododermatitis is a condition in which a guinea pig's footpad becomes inflamed, develops sores, or becomes overgrown. The appearance may be similar to calluses, or small tumours on the bottom of the foot. This condition is commonly referred to as bumblefoot. When bumblefoot is left untreated, or is present in a very severe form, there are sometimes complications in treatment and the infected leg may have to be amputated.

The infected guinea pig's footpads may become inflamed (redness), develop sores, or become overgrown over the course of many months. Other signs and symptoms include: Loss of hair on affected foot; Reluctance to move or inability to walk normally; Loss of appetite due to pain; Joint or tendon swelling.

Pododermatitis can be difficult to cure. Start with switching your pet's living quarters to ones with a smooth bottom, improving sanitation and changing the bedding to softer material. Your veterinarian is likely to clean any wounds, clip the hair around the affected areas, and trim any overgrown nails. Affected feet should be soaked in an antibiotic solution, and antibiotic ointment should be applied. In severe cases, animals may need antibiotics and pain medications.

Fifty minutes and just Rs.190 to fill a pothole!

Students of Vidyavardhaka Engineering College develop pothole-filling machine — a quick fix for cratered city roads

Mysuru, June 12- Each year, Mother Nature and travellers leave a stamp on highways, roads and parking lots in the form of potholes. Born from both harsh, cold winter and dry, hot summer weather, potholes show up many times throughout the year and in all regions and climates — no area is immune.

All those seemingly small holes littered throughout our cities pack a lot of punch and they cause major damage to vehicles. Though there is no sure-fire way to stop their occurrence, a group of final year students of Vidyavardhaka College of Engineering have come with a pothole-filling machine that will facilitate speedy filling up of potholes and ensure comfortable stretches for road users, especially during rainy season.

The miniature low-cost and less time consuming pothole-filling machine was developed by students as part of their project. The students — Sujay Dev, B. Rohith, B. Rahul and S. Shashank — under the guidance of Dr. G.B. Krishnappa, Dean - Research and Development and Prof. Thamme Gowda, Project Coordinator, have developed the machine keeping in mind the traditional pothole-filling techniques that take a lot of manpower and a lot of heavy machinery, which is an expensive process.

The objectives of the project was to decrease the amount of manpower and the time required to fill the pothole, to reduce road closure due to repair of roads by creating compact machine to work in tandem with the traffic and to reduce the amount of money required to fill a pothole.

The advantages of the pothole-filling machine is that the initial investment is less and easy to maintain. It reduces labour because of single equipment. By using a single machine, all the processes are done simultaneously and efficiently. And there is no need to close the complete road and only a portion of the road can be closed.

The machine includes a two-stroke petrol engine, roller, hopper and a chassis as its principal parts and it takes a maximum of 50 minutes to fill a pothole of 1.5 ft width. The time taken to clean the pothole of 450 mm X 450 mm X 100 mm (length X breadth X depth) is around 5 to 10 minutes, the time required to heat the tar is 20 minutes and mixing it with gravel is 10 minutes. The total time required for the process is around 50 minutes for the size mentioned. The labour requirement is a maximum at two persons. The students explained that coconut husk is used to heat the tar and over 1.5 kg of husk is required to heat three kg of tar and 18 kg of gravel to fill it. The total cost of filling the pothole comes to just Rs.190 and the total cost of the pothole-filling machine is Rs.31,250.

Moreover, the machine is easy to operate and easily manoeuvrable and the tar applied was compacted properly in the pothole. The machine can be used without disturbing the traffic and without closing the roads and can be easily transported from place to place. Multiple operations such as rolling and tar discharge can be performed by the machine simultaneously.

Acting swiftly after the defacement incident, Yuva Brigade members swung into action and repainted the walls restoring its beauty.

Hit-and-Run case

City Traffic Police trace car in Bengaluru

Audi car, driver brought to Mysuru

Samiulla Khan

Mysuru, June 12 (RK&KS)- Siddarthanagar Traffic Police have traced the car involved in a hit-and-run incident at Rajivnagar 2nd Stage near Narayana Hospital on June 10 which had resulted in the death of a motorist.

The deceased motorist is Samiulla Khan, a resident of Udayagiri in city. The car rammed into his scooter when Samiulla was proceeding on his Honda Activa scooter from Udayagiri towards the Ring Road and had sped away.

Siddarthanagar Traffic Police-conducted mahazar, registered a case and collected a few parts of the car that was lying on the road. They then visited a few car showrooms and some car garages in city and enquired about the car parts they had found and came to know that it was an Audi.

The Police also examined CCTV footages of cameras installed at a shop and a Mosque near the accident spot and the footages showed a car ramming into a motorist and speeding away.

Siddarthanagar Traffic Inspector Gurudarshan and staff Hemanth, Prabhakar and Kumaraswamy managed to collect the information of the owner. The car reportedly belongs to Rehman Khan of Bengaluru.

The Police traced the car at the parking lot of an apartment at Jayanagar in Bengaluru last night and after matching the parts of the car which was with them with the Audi (KA-03 MX-9699) parked in the apartment, it was confirmed that it was the same car.

It is learnt that car owner Rehman Khan had sent his driver Nasir to drop a few people to Mysuru. After dropping the people, the driver was proceeding towards Bengaluru, when he allegedly hit the motorist and sped away.

Siddarthanagar Traffic Police have brought the car and the driver Nazir to Mysuru, are investigating.

The Aadhaar desk operator Manjunath, speaking to Star of Mysore said that only 50 tokens were given daily to people. "It takes about 15 minutes to complete formalities for each person for registering for Aadhaar. Incorect documents would enhance the time and technical snag if any would further drag the time. On an average only 40 tokens (people) would be attended each day," he explained.

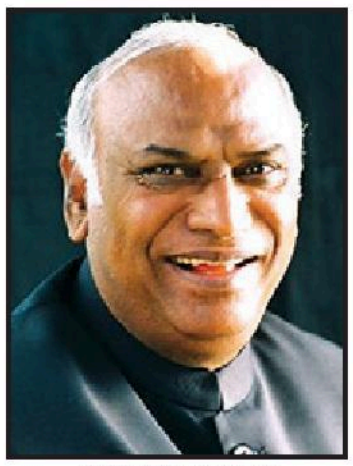
The people who had assembled demanded tokens for all indicating the date and time on subsequent dates on the lines of advance booking. When Manjunath agreed to the suggestion, the entire crowd tried to barge into the office resulting in a chaotic situation. With no way out, the whole operation was shut infuriating the people.

On receiving information, Mandi Police arrived at the spot and managed to pacify the irate crowd and made them to stand in a queue. After getting clearance from higher authorities it was decided to issue tokens to all with dates mentioned in advance.

The people felt that more staff should be deployed to handle the Aadhaar desk whenever a new policy is made and squarely blamed the authorities concerned for lack of vision.

Kharge likely to be made

Co-ordination Committee Chairman



Mallikarjun Kharge

Bengaluru, June 12 (KMS&DM)- Even as the Congress High Command is mulling on making veteran Dalit leader Mallikarjun Kharge as the AICC President, if Rahul Gandhi is unwilling to withdraw his resignation to the post, the party central leadership is said to be working out plans to make Kharge as the Chairman of the Congress-JD(S) Co-ordination Committee of the State Coalition Government.

This development comes a day after JD(S) Supremo and former PM H.D. Deve Gowda (HDD) met Rahul Gandhi on June 10 and listed out the reasons for the electoral debacle of the coalition partners in the LS Polls.

H.D. Deve Gowda, who is upset over the continuation of Siddharamaiah as the Co-ordination Committee Chairman, is said to have convinced Rahul Gandhi to bring senior Congress leader Mallikarjun Kharge to the post, as he believed that Kharge alone can bring about unity among warring Congress leaders and also co-ordination between the JD(S) and Congress at the root level.

However, Gowda told Rahul Gandhi that there was no problem for Siddharamaiah continuing as the CLP leader.

Blaming Siddharamaiah for the drubbing of the Coalition partners in the LS Polls, Deve Gowda is learnt to have listed out the reasons for the electoral loss and also on the measures to be taken for bringing about stability of the Coalition Government.

Rahul, who was closeted with HDD for about half-an-hour, is said to be seriously considering HDD's plans for a stable and viable Government in the remaining four years.

Complaints pour in during Ramdas' visit to Sewage Farm

Mysuru, June 12 (RKB&SR)- MLA S.A. Ramdas, accompanied by Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) officials, inspected the Sewage Farm at Vidyaranyapuram in city on June 10.

During his visit, a few cattle owners brought to the notice of the MLA about lack of water facility, delay in installation of fodder weighing machine and CCTVs by MCC, scarcity of labourers at the farm etc. They alleged that MCC was suffering loss due to delay in installation of fodder weighing machine.

As portions of the compound wall has been damaged by miscreants at various places around the farm, some cattle owners were bringing their cows to graze inside the farm illegally. They appealed the MLA and MCC Commissioner Shilpa Nag to repair the damaged compound and stop such illegal activities.

Fear of inundation still haunts Srirampura residents

Due to the presence of heavy silt deposit at this point, during heavy rains water, instead of flowing further, tends to flow back, overflow from the drain and inundate the houses nearby.

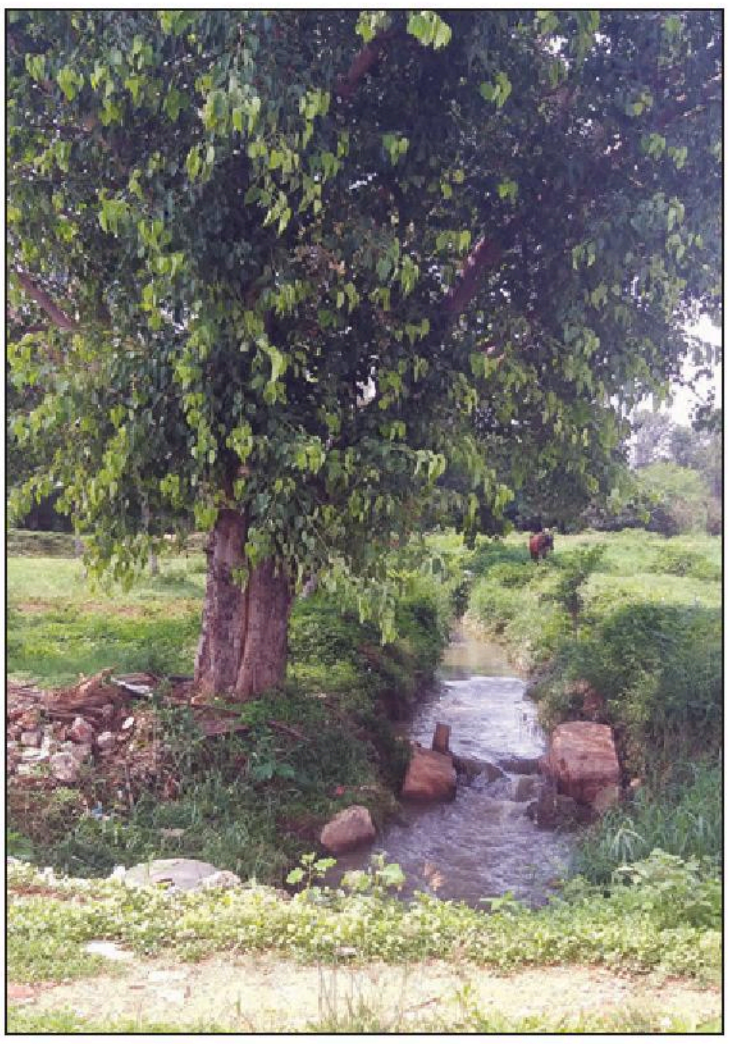
Mysuru, June 12 (RKB&US)- The residents of Srirampura Second Stage here get scared once the sky gets overcast coupled with thunder and lightning.

They do not have any phobias of rain but are still haunted by the nightmarish experience that shook them in October 2017, when the huge drain passing through the extension overflowed with gushing rain water flooding houses and spoiling consumer durables — about 150 houses were affected then.

The residents had staged a protest in the area. The then MUDA Chairman D. Dhruvakumar and the then MLA M.K. Somashekar had inspected the area, got the height of the drain increased by two feet or so to prevent overflowing of water. However, the augmentation stopped at that point with no continuation.

The drain does not extend beyond Manandavadi Road Bridge near Srirampura. A bit of soil was excavated to continue construction of the drain and left at that point. Due to the heavy silt deposit at that point, during heavy rains, water tends to flow back, overflow from the drain and inundate the houses nearby.

The residents say that they are yet to recover from the worst experience that occurred two years ago. The officials have not done the work properly giving room for one more catastrophe during the ensuing rainy days, they allege.



The drain near Srirampura Ring Road, which was quite wide earlier, has now become narrow due to encroachment. This is another reason for overflowing drain.

Elderly couple murder case

No clues about killers yet

Mysuru, June 12 (KS)- Three Police teams, that are investigating the murder of an elderly couple at their farm house near Nagawala in the taluk on May 13 night, have not got any clues yet and the killers are at large.

The Police, who conducted a preliminary investigation, have suspected that someone known to the couple may have murdered them. But so far, the Police have not arrested a single person. Meanwhile, the Police said that they are continuing the investigation.

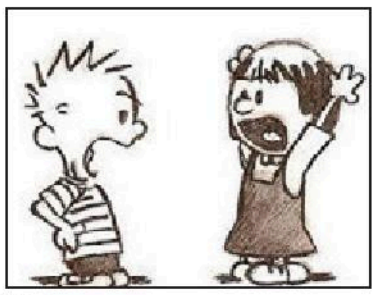
WORD OF THE DAY

Quibble



Pronunciation: KWIB-ul
Meaning: A slight objection or criticism about a trivial matter.
Origin: Early 17th century (in the sense 'play on words, pun'): diminutive of obsolete quib 'a petty objection', probably from Latin quibus, dative and ablative plural of qui, quae, quod 'who, what, which', frequently used in legal documents and so associated with subtle distinctions or verbal niceties.
Example: A few researchers and doctors have also quibbled with some of the details in the dietary advice.

THE ODD WORD

Quean

An impudent or badly behaved girl or woman.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Queer Street

Meaning: An imaginary street where people in difficulty live; an embarrassing situation or condition.

Origin: This slang term was recorded in 1811 in an updated version of Grose's Dictionary of the Vulgar Tongue, titled Lexicon Balatronicum: A Dictionary of Buckish Slang, University Wit, and Pickpocket Eloquence: Queer Street. Wrong. Improper. Contrary to one's wish. It is queer street, a cant phrase, to signify that it is wrong or different to our wish.
The phrase is often associated with debtors, although not exclusively so. Queer Street may have been imaginary but where it was imagined to be was certainly London. By 1821, the term had found its way into Pierce Egan's Real life in London:
"Limping Billy was also evidently in queer-street."
Of course, the phrase was coined long before the 1920s when 'queer' was first used as a synonym for 'homosexual.'
